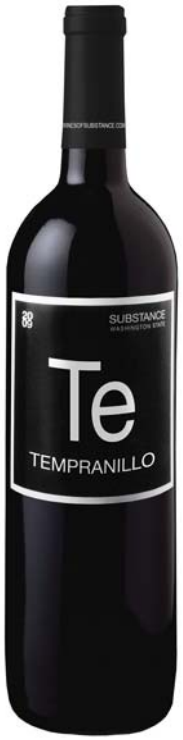
WHAT DID WE PUT IT IN?
100% Seasoned French Oak

Make sure you caught the fact that we used French, NOT American oak. American oak has long been associated with Spanish wine, especially from Rioja. But we prefer the flavor of French. Continue reading for the non-politically correct clarification: We are flipping the bird at tradition and going with French instead of American, because that's how we like it. And gosh darn, we got a great wine as a result of doing it how we like it.

WHERE DOES IT COME FROM?
Mars Hill (Estate Vineyard)

HOW DOES IT SMELL AND TASTE?
This wine smells like you stuck your nose in an olive jar. It's earthy, spicy and bright (yes, technically bright isn't a smell, but you know what we mean).

The mouth is plush, with refined tannins and long length. After a few sips you'll realize its "easy like Sunday…" Wait – Do you really think we'd quote the Commodores? Sure, they are classic, smooth and approachable like this Tempranillo, but we prefer guys who break out and do their own thing. Dancing on the Ceiling and going All Night Long are much more entertaining than an easy Sunday.



WHAT DO I EAT THIS WITH?
Anything pig. Perfect for Vitamin P.
